

Struggling to get your parents on board?

You've signed up to ParentPay, uploaded your pupils, added your bank accounts, set up your trips and payment items, and sent out the activation letters. But some parents aren't logging in and using the system...

Could there be anything you've missed that's stopping some parents using the system?

The truth is that some parents take time and plenty of encouragement to accept a new process, some may not want to pay online, or may not be aware of what they need to pay. Others may need additional accounts for separated parents to make individual payments. ParentPay has you covered.
